MOUNT RAINIER'S PROBLEM.

City Council Must Appear in Court on Recall Issue.

The city council of Mount Rainier, on December 21 next, will appear before the District Court of Upper Marlboro to explain why it refused to recognize the petition, which demanded a vote on the recall of Councilman T. C. Elliott, of the fourth ward.

This ruling was handed down by the court yesterday. The members of the common council announced their intention of insisting upon a construction of the law governing the recall of public officials. It is their contention that 25 per cent of the entire vote of Mount Rainier is needed to enforce a petition calling for a vote on the recall. It is the contention of the petitioners that 25 per cent of the vote of the ward from which the councilman is elected is all that is needed.

Despite the protests made yesterday that the matter was purely one of "adjudication by the courts," it was stated by outsiders that bitter feeling existed

HINTS ON HYGIENE FROM "DOC" WILEY

"Health of the Nation" Enlists His Interest.

Segregation of typhoid and tuberculosis patients, a greater care of infants, and more consideration of the basic hygienic principles of life formed the basis of an address by "The Health of the Nation," by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, delivered before the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at Wesley Chapel yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Wiley asserted that it was an impossibility for any nation, no matter how rich or cultured, to accomplish great things unless its people possessed the animal strength to carry out the projects which it began.

"We have as an example of these truths," said Dr. Wiley, "the building of the Panama Canal. France began the task with ample money and machinery to carry it through. Yet the nation failed utterly, and when the American engineers began their task they found only a junk pile of useless metal. It was the men, not the money or the ambition, but the men behind the project, who accomplished for the United States what France failed to do."

Dr. Wiley opposed the idea of allowing persons suffering from contagious or infectious diseases to be treated in the midst of a community which might suffer because of their illness.

"There should be," said he, "an absolute segregation of persons suffering from contagious diseases, notably typhoid and tuberculosis. In this way alone is the community at large relieved of all danger of a spreading of the disease."

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Miss Elizabeth Beale Bride of Capt. Ashford.

MISS TAFT AT BRYN MAWR.

Miss Ruth Hitchcock Introduced to Society at Large Reception—Miss Strother Smith and Miss Frances Ellinger, the Twin Debutantes, Also Make Their Initial Bow.

Miss Taft, who spent the week-end at Bryn Mawr, returned to the White House last evening. Mr. Robert Taft is expected on Saturday for the Christmas holidays. Charley Taft arrived Tuesday from school.

The German Ambassador and Countess von Bernstorff left Washington at noon yesterday for New York, where they will spend Christmas with the countess' relatives, returning to Washington in time for the dinner they will give on December 28.

The British Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce entertained a small company at dinner last evening at the embassy.

The Commandant of the Marine Corps and Mrs. W. P. Biddle entertained at dinner last evening in honor of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Beekman Winthrop. The other guests were Representative Padgett, Gen. and Mrs. Leonard Wood, Capt. Caperton, U. S. N., and Mrs. Caperton, Mrs. F. E. Mungrave, Lieut. Col. Charles L. McCawley, and Mrs. Walter Izard, daughter of the hostess.

Mrs. Huntington Wilson, wife of the Assistant Secretary of State, went over to New York yesterday to remain until Monday. The Secretary will join her there probably to-morrow.

The death of Mrs. William Phelps Eno has cast a very pronounced gloom over a wide circle of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Eno, not only here, but in New York and New Orleans, and at their summer home. The Eno home here was one of the handsomest of the new residences built in Washington during the last few years by New Yorkers of leisure. It is in N street, opposite the Church of the Covenant, and has been the scene of frequent and beautiful dinners throughout each season. Mr. Eno was the inspiration of the organization of the Riding Club here, which has been so remarkably successful, largely through his efforts and Mrs. Eno's cooperation. She had entertained large companies frequently after the ride, and had taken just as active an interest in all affairs of the club and of the horse shows here. She had no children. Mr. and Mrs. Eno had been in New Orleans for some weeks, on account of the frail condition of the latter's mother, who is recently greatly improved. They were, in consequence, on their way to their New York home. Mrs. Eno's own illness being apparently not serious. When, however, she became unconscious on the train, the journey was brought to a sudden termination in Washington, and Mrs. Eno was tenderly conveyed to her home here. She did not regain consciousness.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Beale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wheeler Beale, and Capt. Mahon Ashford, U. S. N., took place last evening in the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Dr. Charles Ernest Smith officiating. The ceremony was attended by the immediate relatives of the couple only. Miss Katherine Beale, younger sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Mrs. C. C. Collins, U. S. A., now stationed at Fort Robinson, Nebr., was the best man. The drawing rooms were decorated with Southern smilax, bride roses, and palms, the roses and palms being arranged in a bow effect with masses of the roses hanging from it. Tall bunches of American Beauty roses were placed in effective places, and in the dining-room the flowers, candle shades, and other accessories were all pink. Rev. C. Ernest Smith, rector of St. Thomas' Church, performed the ceremony at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of the families only, and a large reception followed, the guests including the leading families of the District of Columbia and Maryland. A string orchestra in the library played the wedding music and for the reception. The bride, who was escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of heavy white satin, made with court train very long. The bodice was trimmed with rare old point lace, which was worn by the bride's mother and grandmother at their wedding. Her veil of tulle was held with orange blossoms, and she carried orchids and lilies of the valley. The young maid of honor, the bride's school-girl sister, wore white chiffon over white silk, with an edge of tulle about the chignon and pearl amulet on a long bodice. She carried bride's maid roses and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom, his best man both wore the full uniform of their rank, which was completed by a beautiful picture for the wedding ceremony.

After the supper the bride and bridegroom left for a trip North, the bride wearing a traveling costume of lavender.

der cloth with coat and hat of leopard skins. The bride's mother was in leopard-trope satin with gold trimmings and the sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Carroll Beale, wore turquoise satin. After the short wedding trip, Capt. Ashford and his bride will return here, where they will spend the remainder of their vacation, which lasts until the middle of February. They will then go to his new post, Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo. Among the out-of-town guests were the brother and sister-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. Bailey Ashford, stationed at Porto Rico, and Dr. and Mrs. Francis Ashford, of New York, and the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Beale, of New York. The bride is not only a member of the well-known Beale family, but is a great-granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William T. Carroll and a granddaughter of the late Gen. Spring Carroll, one of the bravest and most gallant officers in the civil war. The bride is a descendant of the Carrolls, of Maryland, and the Van Rensselaers, of New York, on her maternal side, and is a great-granddaughter of Commodore Truxton, on the paternal side.

Mrs. Bootes, wife of Capt. J. T. Bootes, U. S. M. C., now attached to the U. S. S. Michigan, was hostess at a tea yesterday afternoon to present Miss Fanny Virginia Burke, of Alexandria, Va., to Washington society. Miss Burke is a great-granddaughter of President Jefferson. Those who assisted in dispensing the hospitalities of the afternoon were Mrs. Taylor, wife of Naval Constructor Taylor, U. S. N.; Mrs. Capehart, wife of Capt. Capehart, U. S. A.; Mrs. Parwell, Mrs. Ueberroth, wife of Capt. Ueberroth, U. S. R. C. S.; Mrs. Fred Clark, Miss Dorothy Taylor, Miss Wyman, and Miss Isabel Magruder.

Mrs. Alfred Plant entertained at a reception last evening at 8:30 o'clock to present her daughter, Miss Helen Bond Plant, to Washington society. Among those who assisted were Mrs. D. C. Randolph and Miss McCabe, of Winchester, Va., and Mrs. Brian Anderson, of Anderson, S. C. Among guests of the hostess: Miss Saffold, Miss Saunders, and the Misses Gatchell.

Mrs. Archibald Gracie was hostess at luncheon yesterday, when her guests were asked to meet Mrs. Allan McLane. Those in the company were Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, Mrs. George L. Gillespie, Mrs. John McGown, Mrs. Walter McLean, Mrs. Otto L. Hein, Mrs. Eagan, Mrs. I. T. Mann, and Mrs. John Wyeth, who has just returned from Europe.

Mrs. Julian James has gone to New York to spend the holidays with Miss Furness.

Miss Ruth Hitchcock, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Hitchcock, of Nebraska, made her initial bow to society yesterday afternoon at a large reception from 4 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. Hitchcock and her daughter were assisted in receiving by their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Tingle, of New York, and Miss Agnes Slayden, of New York. The debutante wore a dainty gown of white chiffon and Mrs. Hitchcock wore purple chiton embroidered in steel. The other assistants were Miss Elizabeth Noyes, Miss Zita, daughter of the Ambassador from Turkey; Miss Doris Haywood, Miss Lenora Gillett-Hill, Miss Estelle Crane, Miss Elizabeth Munford, Miss Margaretta Brooke, Miss Martha Harrison, and Miss Mary Webb, Mrs. Leonard Wood, Mrs. Le Roy Tuttle, Mrs. James L.
